

Remarks:

Applicants thank Examiner Bui for his careful examination of this application and clear explanation of the rejections and for his helpful suggestions on amending the claims. Responsive to the Office Action of January 31, 2008, applicants amend the claims as follows:

1. Claim 1 is amended:
  - a. to limit the processor in an automatic tester to execute the test instructions;
  - b. to limit the test assembly that include a HSD module and a RF module to generate a plurality of test signals;
  - c. to limit the interface apparatus to communicate the plurality of test signals from the test assembly to the device under test; and
  - d. to limit the test not to configured to have a radio frequency module.
2. Claim 6 and claim 7 are amended to replace the process with a radio frequency module and high speed data module located at a test assembly.
3. Claim 11 is amended to replace the process with a radio frequency module that generates the radio frequency signal and to replace the process with a high speed data module that generates high speed data signals.
4. Claim 14 is amended to:
  - a. limit the executing step to be preformed in a processor in an automatic tester not having a radio frequency module and a high speed data module,

- b. limit the generating step to be performed in a test assembly including a radio frequency module and a high speed data module.
- 5. Claim 19 is canceled from this examination. And
- 6. Claim 20 is amended to:
  - a. limit the process in an automatic test that does not have a radio frequency module and a high speed data module to execute the test instructions; and
  - b. limit the test assembly that includes a high speed data (HSD) module and a radio frequency (RF) module to generate a plurality of test signals associated with the plurality of test instructions.

Applicants respectfully submit that with the amendments, claims 1 through 18 and claim 20 overcome the 112 rejections and stand patentable. Applicants respectfully request further examination of this application and timely allowance of the pending claims.

Respectfully submitted,
